

The Vida Nueva weekend contains a series of talks given by a volunteer team of clergy, youth, and adults.

The talks follow the basic themes of Christianity in its day-to-day application, and are followed by table discussions.

Worship during the weekend is in the Protestant tradition.

Young men or women from ninth grade to age 20 may attend.

Vida Nueva is completely dependent upon the support of the Christian community for their time, prayers, service, and donations.

A donation of $150 is suggested for participants capable of paying. No one will be refused because of inability to donate.

*Vida
Nueva*

- is Spanish for "New Life".
- is a three-day weekend retreat spanning Friday evening through Sunday evening.
- is a weekend of living in community.
- embodies personal witness, but is not a revival meeting.
- involves group dynamics, but is not group therapy.
- employs Christian instruction, but is not a church school.
- does have follow-up activities, but is not a church substitute.
- is an experience with

Jesus Christ .
